NORMAL PRESIDENT RE-ELECTED BY BOARD OF REGENTS

W. A. BLAGG HEADS BOARD

Appropriation Will Be Asked to Cover Damage to Building by Recent Storm—Is Estimated at $20,000.

At a meeting of the Board of Regents of the State Normal school held yesterday in this city, President Ira Richardson was re-elected as president of the school for a term of two years. His selection will meet the approval of this district as the school has made good progress under his management.

The board reorganized by selecting W. A. Blagg as president of the board; George N. Gromer as vice-president; W. A. Rickenbrode as secretary and Burt M. Rowley, cashier of the Real Estate Bank, as treasurer.

President Richardson will go to Jefferson City Monday evening to appear before the state legislature to ask for an appropriation to cover the damage done the building by the storm last Saturday. Mr. Richardson thinks the damage will amount in the neighborhood of $20,000. Mr. Stamey of the Stamey Construction Co., of St. oseph. was here yesterday, going over the building to estimate the damage. His estimate will be given to Mr. Richardson in St. Joseph Monday evening on his way to Jefferson City.

Commencing next September, the State Normal School will resume its four quarter plan which was interrupted during the past year. The incidental fee will be $10 for each quarter.

Routine matters and the allowing of bills were taken up by the board. State Superintendent of Schools S. A. Baker of Jefferson City, attended the meeting, this being his first meeting with the board as an ex-officio member as he had assumed the state superintendency the first of the year. He expressed himself as well pleased with conditions at the school. The other out-of-town members present were Charles L. Mosley and T. D. Parr. Lee M. Phipps and George N. Gromer, members of the board, were unable to attend on account of sickness.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN

As Time Draws Near Voters Are Discussing Qualificateions of Candidates—Democratic Ticket.

The township elections are to be held next Tuesday and the candidates have only two more days in which to promote their candidacy. The Democratic ticket of Polk township is composed of men who are well qualified for the office which they seek. Andy H. Pride for collector would make a most efficient officer, being well qualified. His many friends are predicting his election.

For assessor, the Democrats have Robert Aley on their ticket. Mr. Aley is failiar with the work of the office, having held the office of assessor of Green township several years ago.

For Justices of Peace the Democrats have W. L. Johnson and W. A. Townsend. Mr. Johnson has faithfully filled this office and justice has been meted out equally to all who have appeared before him.

The members of the township board, Henry Heitman and Lewis Rogers, with Burt M. Rowley as rustee, are candidates for re-election and are on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

The Democrats also selected Richard Snyder as their candidate for constable, he also being on the Republican ticket.

GAVE FINE PROGRAM

POSSUM WALK PUPILS ASK FOR BETTER SCHOOL BUILDING

A COMMUNITY MEETING

Patrons and Friends Gathered for One of the Most Interesting Entertainments Given There.

Believing that they are entitled to a new school building the pupils at Possum Walk school in an effort to interest the school patrons in the project planned and carried out a community meeting last night at the school house that was a decided success and will doubtless result in action by the board to provide a suitable edifice. The program and box supper given by the children and others was a most enjoyable affair and was largely attended.

Following the program by the children superintendent Bert Cooper gave added impetus to the new building idea by a chart talk on improvement of rural schools and especially better buildings. Supt. Cooper said that he was sure no one could go away without feeling that the boys and girls who have spent six hours a day for ten years in such a building deserved a better one in which to display such talent as had been shown in the progarm that was given . They are not getting a square deal, for with the country children constituting one half of the population they get one fifth the opportunity that the city child has.

The first number on the program was a Recitation of Welcome by Mildred Adkins in which she cleared the atmosphere of uneasiness and tuned the audience for a free and easy enjoyment of the evening.

The dialogues given by the children were excellent and revealed talent rarely met with in any school. Not a pupil had to be prompted on hesitated in their parts. The recitations by William Adkins, Arthur Stuart, Martha Hurst, Ruby Lesher, Eldon Spangler and Margaret Brown were choice collections and the splendid way in which they were rendered demonstrated that these young people have a future that merits their best endeavors of preparation. These recitations revealed the fact a teacher of elocution and public speaking would find in this community material she would be delighted with. Miss Ruby Lesher from the Salem district read "The Sisters Beau" in her usual charming manner to the delight of all.

Mildred Adkins sang a solo, "Sunshine and Smiles" that greatly pleased all. The duet by Martha Adkins and Cleda Brush, "The Depot" brought a round of applause.

Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Nate Lesher on the Organ and violin. They delighted all with the masterful way in which they used their instruments.

EXPECT CALL TO CONGRESS

President, It Is Believed Will Be Able to Return to U. S. Sooner Than He Expected.

Washington, March 22.—That President Wilson will be able to return to the United States sooner than he expected—possibly early in May—was the belief expressed in circles close to the White House today. And with his return it is expected that one of his first official acts will be to call the new congress into extraordinary session. The possibility that he will not wait uneil he reaches home to issue the call was being discussed today, but it was stated that the President has not yet indicated in any messages that constantly are being exchanged between Paris and the White House any intention he may have in this direction.

BUY SON'S PARDON?

IOWAN CHARGES $5,000 WAS GIVEN FOR GOV. HARDING

SPRING A SENSATION

Wm. Rathbun, a Farmer, in Affidavit, Says His Attorney Told Him "Capital City Was Fixed."

Des Moines, March 22.—Iowa's official circles are seething today in the most sensational turmoil in years as the result of charges made before the legislative judiciary committee that $5,000 was paid George Clark, his attorney, to buy the pardon of Ernest Rathbun from Governor Harding. Impeachment of the Governor is threatened and may be the outcome of the investigation that is being made.

The sensation was sprung when the affidavit of Wm. Rathbun, an Ida county farmer was introduced at the committee's investigation of the pardon of Rathbun's son, Ernest, after conviction of criminal assault.

The affidavit was presented as evidence by H. M. Havnor, state attorney general, the first witness called. It was dated February 25, 1919, and was dictated in the presence of five other members of the Rathbun family, the affidavit stated.

Seven affidavits in support fo the claims of the state in connection with the granting of the pardon were presented by Mr. Havnor. Two were signed by William Rathbun, Sr., two by Ernest Rathbun, one by William Rathbun, Jr., one by Fred Rathbun and one by A. C. Johnson, an Ida Grove attorney.

Havnor testified he went to Governor Harding December 31, 1918, and when he asked the governor about the Rathbun pardon, the chief executive asked.

"Why are you sticking your nose into this matter?"

The witness said he then told the governor he would endeavor to set aside the pardon on the grounds of fraud.

The $5,000 was paid to Clark by Rathbun, Sr., in three installments, according to the affidavit of William Rathbun, Sr.

WILSON AS REFEREE

MAY BE CALLED TO SETTLE ITALY -JUGO-SLAV DISPUTE

JAP DEMAND SETTLED

Claim for Equal Rights for Jap Citizens, Which Has Been Menace, Has Been Modified.

Paris, March 22.—Premier Orlando of Italy, has an appointment to confer with President Wilson and Col. House this afternoon on Italy's claim to the Fiume and the Adriatic littoral. It is reliably reported that President Wilson will be selected as referee to settle the dispute between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs over the Dalmation question.

Paris, March 22.—All the proposed amendments to the League of Nations covenant were taken under consideration today when the League of Nations commission met under the chairmanship of President Wilson. This was the first full meeting of the commission since the session in February, the day before President Wilson sailed for America.

Two of the most perplexing questions which have been puzzling the experts were the immigration question as put forward by Japan, and the amendment to insure the integrity of the Monroe doctrine. The supreme allied war council met again today.

Japan's claims for equal rights for Japanese citizens which has been menacing the League of Nations plan has been settled in a series of private conferences, it was understoo dthis afternoon. It was reported that the matter had been so modified that it was generally unobjectionable. The word "equal rights" is said to have been cut out following the Japanese demand, so that it simply calls for justice alike for nations of all members of the league. As one American delegate pointed out, this is virtually what the Declaration of Independence says.

ALLIES EVACUATE ODESSA.

London, March 22.—Odessa has been evacuated by the Allies, according to a Russian wireless dispatch picked up here this afternoon. A British and French garrison has been occupying Odessa while north of the city a Greek force has been heavily engaged with Bolsheviki troops recently.

FLABBERGASTED.

The Republican party is bewildered. It is nonplussed. It does not know what to do.

The greatest event in human history is being developed, and it has had nothing to do with shaping that event. It does not know whether to block it or to join hands and push it through. Its leaders are divided in opinion, and the rank and file of the party are like sheep without a shepherd. There is no great outstanding leadership at this time in the Republican party.

The Democrats are almost a solid unit behind their leader and behind his policy. And there is much Republican sentiment which is willing to pocket its pride and lend a hand.

As matters appear now, should the senate reject the treaty for the League of Nations and for peace when they are assembled in extra session in June, the proposition for a League would then become a national issue and would then become a national issue and would go to the people in the campaign of 1920. Since something like 80 per cent at least, of public opinion in America is for some form of League of Nations, the Democratic party, which stands sponsor for it, would undoubtedly continue in power in 1920.

On the other hand, should the Republicans in the senate accept the peace treaty with the League of Nations involved, the fight would be over and the two parties would go before the country in 1920 on old issues or on the records established between onw and then in the operation of the League.

As for a third party of uncompromising anti-leaguers, concerning which there are some rumors in the air, it would not stand a ghost of a show because there is only a very small percentage of the population of this country which is unqualifiedly opposed to the League.

The Democratic party needs to be warned in time lest there should be any rift in its ranks. It has the chance of its life today with a great world-stirring issue. It needs to sit tight in the boat, to hang closely together, to sink differences, to fritter away none of its strength in following a will-o'the-wisp.

Furthermore, it is pushing through a great program, moral and righteous in character. Never was such a stirring and inspiring purpose before any political party. It would be a crime to falter in the slightest degree in these days of anxious and earnest effort. The shoulder of every man who loves the truth and the right should be put to the wheel until this great issue is settled and finally settled.—Kansas City Post.

NEWS FROM
NODAWAY COUNTY TOWNS

Pickering has one boy with the army of occupation in Germany—Wallace McKee. His brother, Sergeant Leland McKee, who has been in France, arrived last week at Camp Eustis, Va., and is supposed will soon reach home.

Floyd Rickard of Hopkins recently made a flying trip to France on the Mt. Vernon, which is one of Uncle Sam's largest transports. On the return trip 6000 of the men of the 27th Division were brought over. Floyd is now at Hoboken, New Jersey, and expects another trip across in the very near future.

J. M. Ephland of Hopkins, who recently gave a public sale at his residence some six miles northeast of Hopkins, has located near Harrionville where he will farm the coming season.

U. I. Wilson of Barnard, received a letter and paper from France sent by his son, Paul, who is in service with the Motor Supply Train No. 411, stating that his company had won in the race to Hoboken by a good margin. Just what this race is Mr. Wilson does not know, but judging from the prominence given it in the paper sent home, it must be a thing of some importance. Paul says that his company has been recommended for home and he expects to be on his way shortly.

Frank Drydale of Bernard, who has been in service across the pond, is now in New York, according to a letter received by his parents early this week. He arrived there March 6 and will probably be discharged and sent home before long.

One day last week J. W. New of Hopkins stepped into one of the local banks and drew out something like $350, all in bills. He also had a check for $300 given him by Cabe Miller. He wrapped the bills and check together and placed them in his pocket. He walked across the street when he decided to see how the bills were riding and, lo and behold, the money and checks were gone, having slipped through a hole in his pocket. Diligent search was at once made for the missing roll, and although Mr. New had walked but a few feet, "hide or hair" of the money could not be found. Mr. Miller wrote another check for the one that was lost and the money will no doubt turn up later unless it went down the 102 river in the recent flood. John says he now feels that a bank is a safer place to put money than in your pocket, especially if there is a hole in the pocket.

While assisting Sunday in saving the Park river bridge that was threatened with being washed away by reason of the high waters, Roy Clark of Hopkins fell into the river and might have been drowned but for the prompt assistance of Ben Hopple who was near the bank and succeeded in helping him out before he went under. Roy had on rubber boots and as the current was swift, he would have experienced difficulty in getting out but for the assistance of Ben.

A wind and rain storm struck Hopkins a little after the noon hour last Saurday, but aside from blowing down a few trees and tangling up telephone and electric light wires, no serious damage was done. The rain came down in torrents and for a few minutes it was feared that a cyclone was at hand, but they luckily escaped the worst of the wind storm. On the old Uncle Johnny McMaster farm, now occupied by Walter Jackson, they did not escape so luckily. The big hay and cattle barn is a total wreck, as is a new hog house, the wind picking them up and shaking them to pieces, scattering the lumber over the place. The roof was also taken from the ice house as well as the roof from the big horse barn. The porch on the southeast corner of the home was damaged and it is estimated the loss is between two and three thousand dollars. Two hogs were killed and hay blown away, as well as corn damaged that was in a crib that was blown down. Mr. Jackson has some insurance, but not nearly enough to cover the loss.

Perry Colwell has sold his 40-acre farm which is located 3 1-2 miles southwest of Skidmore to W. E. Hammond for $165 per acre. Mr. Colwell and family will continue to occupy the house on the farm he sold while he tends some of the N. S. Shull farm this season.

Lester Carpenter, who bought the Tootle land west of town this spring also invested in some town property in which to live until he can build some new improvements on the farm. J. W. Weddle, Jr., is now without a home, having sold his property to Mr. Carpenter last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Weddle have rented the G. R. Davis property, and will move there the last of the week.

Henry Rowlette has sold the residence property in Northwest Skidmore that he got in his trade with J. W. Miller a few days ago, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barrett. The Barretts will make this property their home after it is vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

The property at the east end of Elm street in Skidmore changed hands the latter part of last week, when John Lowrance, who purchased the property from Charley Money last fall, sold it to J. U. Marshall who came to Skidmore a couple of weeks ago from Glenwood, Iowa. The property sold for $2,100.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McGarry and children of Clyde left for St. Joseph Monday, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. McGarry were reared in Clyde and vicinity and have many friends who will regret to see them leave.

Ben Jones' 2 year old colt "Bob Allen," took first money at Hot Springs, Ark., last week. This colt was ridden by Ernest Wheatley, the Parnell jockey. The purse was $600. This is where Wheatley was born and his mother still lives there.

Considering the condition of the weather, the Harmony Shorthorn sale at Ravenwood was well attended Saturday aftenoon. The highest price paid for an animal was $575, we understand. Some of the best animals to be found anywhere were offered in this sale. The high price cow was listed by A. O. Stanley of Sheridan and purchased by T. F. Payne of this place. Mr. Stanley also listed top bull offerings which was bought by Roy Wells of Ravenwood. The Circle is planning to have another sale next year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. James, who have been in Miami, Okla., for the past two years, returned to Burlington Junction Saturday morning and will again make their home in that town. They will reside in the Stitt property on Davis street. Mr. James worked on a number of large contracts in Miami, which for some time was one of the booming cities of Oklahoma.

C. B. Zarn of Burlington Junction, who recently made a business trip to Chicago, is not enthused over the possibility of the new industrial board accomplishing much in the matter of reducing prices. He believes prices will continue to gradually come down, but not because of price agreements such as is contemplated by the industrial board at Washington. Mr. Zarn is of the opinion that in order to get the factories and manufacturing plants to moving it will be necessary for dealers throughout the country to place sufficient advance orders at prevailing prices so that the factories of necessity will have to speed up.

John Baker of Clearmont sold his farm west of the river last week, then went down and bought the old Hagey farm southwest of Burlington Junctiono but does not get possession until the first of next March, so he and C. S. Turpen went together and rented the old Hiles farm southwest of the Junction and will both move onto it for the next year.

J. E. Hornbuckle of Clearmont brougt a French 75 shell case to our office the last of the week that Elbert Pence had sent him, that is quite a curiosity. The case has a lot of lettering cut into it that was done by a German prisoner that Elbert had charge of and the work was fine.

Rollie Bancroft, who has been living at Dwyer, Montana, for about 3 years, arrived in Clearmont last Monday with his effects and will again make his home there. He will live on W. P. Lemon's south place.

The Odd Fellows lodge at Clearmont is arranging to celebrate the One Hundredth Anniversary of the birth of Odd Fellowship in this country on the 24th of April. All members of the lodge are urged to be in attendance at the regular meeting next Tuesday evening to assist in completing arrangements for the occasion.

Last Friday evening the reorganized Burlington Junction Concert Band gave the first of a series of concerts in the Grand opera house here. In spite of the rainy weather, a good sized audience greeted the band, and those who attended are loud in their praise for the manner in which the program was handled. Some even went so far as to say the entertainment surpassed anything of its nature that has been given in this city for a long time, and that the improvement shown by the individual members of the band since last heard was very pronounced. The membership of the Burlington Concert Band (twenty pieces) is composed of the following: Conductor Merrion Minter; solo cornets, Carl Furgeson and Orlo Lincoln; first cornet, Wayne Nicholas; second cornet, Frank Rhodes; solo clarinets, Henry Brough and Paul Greenelsh; first clarinet, Raymond Harrington; second clarinet, Joab Nicholas; E-flat, Robert Barber; first alto, Stanley Ferguson; second alto, Evert Crites; baritone, Ross Wallace; bass, Bert Oehler and Frank Larrabee; first trombone, E. A. Nelson; second trombone, Sherman Cordell; third trombone, F. C. Greenelsh; drums, John Beavens and William Walker.

Hannibal Wright has been discharged from service in the navy and arrived home in Ravenwood Thursday on No. 54. On the way from New York he stopped at St. Louis and visited relatives a couple of days and also laid over in St. Joseph a day or two for the same purpose.

Dr. Hunterson of Ravenwood, is in receipt of a letter from the Navy department giving the information that his binoculars, loaned for use during the war, are being returned to him. A liberal expression of thanks is contained in the letter.

Hoyt Craig arrived in Ravenwood, Tuesday night on a 30 days' furlough from duty as seaman. He says his ship, the Buford, has sailed for France and that it will probably take 30 days to make the trip. He hopes to be discharged soon, but thinks he will have to report at Newport News, Va., before receiving his papers. We are all glad to see him.

Though there was an unusually heavy rain and storm Saturday, which had followed a threatening period on the previous day, the sale conducted in Ravenwood by the Harmony Shorthorn Circle was a decided success and there is promise of annual sales that will put this community on the map for producing fancy cattle stock. The record price of the sale was paid by Tom Payne of Parnell, for Sunrise, No. 41 in the catalouge, it being $575. Other sales were R. F. Wells purchase of Royal Orange for $325 and No. 34, Buttercup 2nd, to J. D. Gates for $310. Quite a number of young animals were placed in the sale, which cut down the average price, and this with the inclement weather might have had some effect on a less optimistic crowd of fellows than the Harmony crowd. Col. Gross was the auctioneer and there were buyers from all parts of Missouri and parts of Iowa.

Fifty years ago March 2nd, Uncle Charlie Hocker began to live in the vicinity of Guilford. Uncle Charlie has been a useful and honorable citizen all these years.

Hobart Bledsoe of Guilford, who saw service over seas has arrived home after an absence of 1½ years. He went into the service in September, 1917, and in June 1918, sailed over seas and saw duty at the front until the armistice was signed.

For County Superintendent of Schools.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of J. W. Pierce for County Superintendent of Schools of Nodaway County, subject to the action of the voters at the election to be held Tuesday, April 1.

TIGHT SKIRTS DELAY TRAINS

Regional Director at Philadelphia Protests the New Styles for the Fair Sex.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—Tha tight skirts delay the trains by adding seventeen seconds to the averag stop is the allegation contained in a complaint filed by the South Jersesy Commtuers' Association with Charles Markham, Regional Railroad Director, whose main offices are in this city.

The protest explains that this extra time concession is necessary to the female sex because the steps to the old Pullman cars used on the Trenton Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad are of a height from the station platform that makes imperative a tortoise like movement on the part of the hobbled woman passengers entering and leaving the trains.

According to hearsay of the Jersey commuters the brakesman are taking considerable interest in their work nowadays because of the fact that women must literally be lifted to the platform in alighting.

HAL BAKER WRITES FROM PRUM

Directs Work of Keeping up Wire Service for Pershing's Army.

In a letter to his father, Cana Baker, of Maryville, Hal Baker, with the American Army of Occupation, writes as follows:

Prum, Germany, Feb. 16—The weather here is cold and plenty of snow. I am in Prum, Germany, and nothing but valleys and mountains and snow. I will try and get you straightened out as to my roaming around. I left San Antonio on the 5th of August, to New York and boarded the ship, Harva on the 16th. 30,000 men were on the boats in our convoy, the latter consisting of two battle vruisers, two torpedo boats destroyers, sixteen submarine boat destroyers and eight flying machine, so we were well protected. We wore our life preservers all the time ready for anything that might happen. We were seven days out when the gunners sighted a submarine coming in the moonlight. They cracked down on him four times, with two direct hits, and we finished that German. When two days out from Liverpool the English mosquito fleet submarine fleet met us and took us in. We spent six days in Liverpool and two in South Hampton, going from there to La Vere, Fraance, across the English Channel, going from there to Remiremont. From there to Sachment building telephone lines to the front. I left the company here and was sent to Langress, France, to an O. T. C. The company came on to Luxemburg, Germany, while I was at school. I took a six week's courses and passed and would have been made an officer if we had continued, but was sent back in the S. O. S., transferred and went to Chitney, then to court Chevernay, then to St. Agnon Noyer, then to Barleyduke, then to Metz, then to Verdun, then to Luxemburg, hen to Coblenz, then to Moselweiss, then to Prum where I rejoined the company. I was sent here with five men to take charge of the telephone lines—we operate and maintain them. I have two Ford cars and a motor cycle to ride over the lines from Prum to Staddkyle, Schumberg, Balesped, Whitteldorf, Bualif and Kylberg, about 140 kilometers. I usually make the trip every other day. I am billeted with an old lady and man 72 years old and have a good feather bed and the best of treatment. They cannot do enough for us soldiers. I was at the front when the armistice was signed and we worked night and day to keep up the lines into the trenches. To tell you of the war itself is impossible. When I see you I can perhaps, give you some idea of its greatness and horror. France is a beautiful country and so is Germany with wonderful sight to be seen in both. I visited the palace of Louis XIII of France and several other chauteaus and palaces. Was in Chauteau Thierry where one of the hardest battles was fought and last Saturday I was riding the lines of General Pershing to the Spa, Belgium, and had the pleasure of eating dinner in Hindenburg's home which is now occupied by Americans. Was also in the ex-kaiser's home at the Spa. I am asking for a fourteen day furlough to go to Italy, but don't know whether I will get it or not. I also heard today we would return to the U. S. in March, but nothing sure about it. I have not been paid for three months on account of being pushed around over the country. I have worked hard in the army and have gotten up as high as an enlisted man can go. I had six months of the hardest training ever given a soldier and I think I know the game from start to finish. I received at Langress a certificate stating I had received grades at school entitling me to an officer's commission which I would have received had the war continued, but I am glad it ended aand I trust it is for good. Russia don't look good yet and troops are likely to be sent there. I saw President Wilson when he was here and he made us a wonderful little talk. I had visitors tonight in my room as I ate supper, a little 5 year and 8 year old German boy and girl. I had some candy and gave them a few pieces and they sang, "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" for me. It was comical to hear the little tads sing what they had been taugh' to hate so thoroughly.

TIME WOMEN GO TO JAIL

Pennsylvania Chairman of National Woman's Party Was There and Ought to Know.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—Miss Mary Ingram, Pennsylvania State Chairman of the National Women's Party, has just been released from serving four days in a Washington jail for burning the President's message, and she is willing to talk. Here's her tip:

"Now is the time for all good women to go to jail, and they should go as often as possible."

These words were taken from Miss Ingram's talk to reporters when she returned home after a compulsory stay of a week-end at the capital. Despite the fact that the Keystone suffrage leader maintained a hunger strike during her jail period she denied any ill effects, and was quite willing to discuss the proposed women's suffrage amendment in detail.

"It is a shame," said Miss Ingram vehemently, "that when Germany's new democratic government has not only enfranchised its women, but has already elected thirty-four women to the new parliament, that the United States even refuses to start the process of enfranchising us.

"One hundred and forty women have been in jail or in workhouses for periods from three to sixty days during the last year because they have felt so earnestly that the honor of our nation must be cleared and that it only can be done by enfranchising women."

A Queer Old Bird is The Pelican

Its bill holds more than its bellican.

But at that, its heart is bigger than its bill. It is the only bird which shares its food with other and weaker fowl.

So the queer old pelican looms up handsome in Goodrich's eyes—eyes which see beauty that is more than skin deep.

Goodrich, it is true, makes Silvertown Cords the handsomest tires—the very Beau Brummel tires of smart cars.

Yet if clumsiness and ugliness would add one mile to their service, Goodrich would make them clumsy and ugly as the queer old pelican.

"Quality First," rules in the manufacture of Silvertowns; and they render quality service first and last.

Give your automobile the obvious grace and elegance of the Tires with the Twin Red Diamonds on the sidewall. Their mileage is sure.

AN IOWA TOWN'S MEMORIAL

How Sac City Raised $200,00 With Which to Erect a Building in Honor of War Heroes.

How Sac City, Iowa, secured $200,000 for a memorial building is told in Community Center Circular No. 2 issued by the department of the interior, bureau of education.

The action of Sac City, Iowa, illustrates not only characteristic American speed and enthusiasm but an element in the plan which needs emphasis. At the annual banquet of the Commercial club it was suggested that the club buy as its memorial community building a certain private house which was for sale and could be bought at low price because one of the two owners promised to give his share if it were used for public purposes. The mayor arose and said that the suggestion so fully met a long-felt need that he desired to subscribe for five $100 Liberty Bonds of the fifth issue and present them to the club for this purpose, and that he would make it 10 if needed. Three other citizens arose and said in turn, "I'll match the mayor." Here was $2,000 and $4,000 if needed, subscribed spontaneously. It was on unexpected thrill to the audience. The proposed plan aroused so much enthusiasm in Sac City that it was decided to raise $200,000, half of it for a new building and the other half as an endowment for operating expenses. Ten days later an architect was on his way to the town to draw plans for the building. It is to be noted that the $100,000 endowment will remain in Liberty Bonds during the life of the bonds. So far as possible all bonds contributed for community buildings ought not to be converted into money but used as money. Current money will of course be needed by builders, but an effort should be made to induce trust companies and estates to take over the bonds because of the public purpose for which they are used. It is highly important to guard against the danger of depressing the price of bonds by throwing them on the market. Builders who are paid for the work in bonds ought to agree to retain them if possible for a certain period, one or two years after their issue.

CHURCH IN A DRIVE

campaign, as the Presbyterians call their drive. which calls for forty million dollars needed for the work.

The Maryville quota needed is $7,500.00 and the aim and object has been fully explained from the pulpit and in circulars sent to each member. Dean G. H. Colbert is chairman of the local drive and he will be assisted by twenty group leaders. The plans for the work are fully organized and the solicitation of the members will begin at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Among the objects for which the forty millions dollars will be raised are the following:

Half a million for use among returning soldiers and sailors, to whom assistance is also to be given in finding jobs and in getting a new start in life.

Half a million dollars for reconstruction work in building Protestant churches in Europe devastated by the war.

Four million dollars, for overseas work, where the last year Presbyterians conducted 175 hospitals and dispensaries in which 700,000 patients were treated and where educational institutions and religious services were maintained which were attended by many millions of natives.

Eighty thousand dollars will be used for temperance and prohibition work, especially in foreign lands in which American brewers and distillers are to begin operations as soon as their plants are closed down in this country.

Nearly a million dollars will be appropriated for disabled preachers, and another million will be used to increase preacher's salaries.

About three millions are needed for special work in American cities and among immigrant populations, lumberjacks, Indians, Mexicans and other depressed peoples, and for relief work in the sparsely settled sections of the country.

Presbyterian women are to raise nearly two million dollars for educational and social work in this country.

Half a million is to be spent for general religious education and theological training, half a million for Sunday School work and religious literature, and about one hundred thousand for special men's work and general evangelism.

Twenty-five million dollars will be spent by the local Presbyterian churches for their general community work.

Sunday, March 23, is "Victory Day." when the entire church is expected to "go over the top," coming up to its full quota.

Arrangements have been made whereby the report from each Church will be sent to the local chairman, who in turn will telegraph to New York the total amount raised during the day in his district or Presbytery, and on Monday, March 24, it is expected that practicaly a complete report of the success of the campaign will be flashed across the country.

HAS FOUND ETERNAL YOUTH

Hubert Leigey, 90, Says He Expects to Live to Be 120—Has Never Had a Day's Sickness.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 22.—Hubert Leigey, ninety, a hermit in the Clearfield mountains in Western Pennsylvania, is believed by his friends to have found the fountain of youth.

In the seasons not marked by snow or frost the young aged man roams the mountain trails in his bare feet. He has never shaved and his beard extends almost to his knees. He knows the secret of vigorous life. Nature has few mysteries which he does not possess. He heals by the laying on of hands and extracts medicinal secrets from the barks of hemlock, pine and oak and from the wild flowers, plants and weeds.

Leigey plants only enough grain and vegetables for himself. He will not hoard. He gets his meat from wild game and he is said to be a crack shot with a muzzle-loading rifle. He says he can hit the eye of a humming bird at 100 yards. From the hides of deer anad bear he makes what clothing he needs. Old residents say he has never had a day of sickness.

The hermit says his secret of youth lies in clean thoughts and scrupulous adherence to the laws of nature. "Modified civilization has brought disease to human kind," he declares. "I expect to live to be on hundred and twenty by obeying Mother Nature."

A PRIVATE'S PRAYER TO WILSON.

Paris.—(By Mail).—An American soldier just back from the Army of Occupation in Germany, dropped in at the K. of C. headquarters here and wrote the following "Private's Prayer," which he requested be sent to President Wilson:

"Our father who art in Washington honored be thy name; give us this day our long delayed pay, and forgive us our A. W. O. L.'s as we forgive the bugler, the mess sergeant and all others who wear bars.

"And lead us not into the Army of Occupation, but deliver us from fatigue, for all these are the M. P., the field clerks, and the Q. M.'s; forever and ever. Ah, oui."

AGRICULTURAL PAYS

Two Instances That Show That What Such Training Can Do.

Columbia, March 20.—These two stories are being told by the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri to show that training in agriculture does pay. These are merely instances of what such training can do.

Two brothers of Lees Summit who attended the Short Course a few years ago, went home and began breeding pure bred Poland-China hogs. At their first annual sale the average price which they received was the fourth highest in Poland-China sales in the whole United States. In 1915-16 they received the highest average price brought by Poland-Chinas in Missouri.

Fifteen years ago a Missouri boy went home from the Short Course and rented three acres of neglected orchard from his father. He pruned and sprayed the trees according to the methods he had learned.

A few years later he bought 40 acres of land and planted 15 acres in orchard His trees have borne five crops which have given him a net profit of $467 an acre after deducting fair wages for himself, his team, and other operating expenses. He now owns a 420 acre farm valued at nearly $60,000.

WHY THEY WED FRENCH GIRLS

M'selle's Genius for Taking Pains With Her Clothing Wins Admiration of the Yanks.

Boston, March 22.—How to apply classic art as shown by ancient sculpture, painting and tapestries, to the modern art of trimming women's hats is revealed by Miss Lotta A. Clarke, head of the department of history of the Boston Normal School.

"It is line and texture and color that makes a thing bueatiful," Miss Clarke says. "A milliner or a dressmaker displays her or her genius when they take the materials at hand and combine all those elements. If our milliners and modistes would go to the Art Meseum they would see things there that have been models of beauty for mankind for generations. And it is the test of beauty when a thing never goes out of style, for, you see, it lasts forever, it is always a joy to look upon.

"Milliners may not find many hats in the Art Museum, but they find models of headdress there. They will note, too, exhibitions of cleverness in making materials fit the beautiful lines of the head, the shoulders and the body of a woman.

"Why do we look to France for style today? Is it not because France looked to Greece for her models of beauty? France and Greece have in common that love of beautiful in line, in color and in texture. The French too, have that infinite capacity of taking pains in their dress. That is genius in costume.

"We wonder why 200,000 of our American boys are staying in France to marry French girls. I fancy that the French womans genius for taking infinite pains in clothing herself is responsible. The French girl devotes her whole attention to her appearance and manners. Think back of the French girl and look at the Greek head of Aphrodite. She has the puffs and the head-band that aare so popular today. Yet there is never a stray hair to be seen. The Greeks, too, took infinite pains to be beautiful. In the Greek and French creations there is never the awkwardness of line that we so often see in American products."

W. A. BLAGG HEADS BOARD

Appropriation Will Be Asked to Cover Damage to Building by Recent Storm—Is Estimated at $20,000.

At a meeting of the Board of Regents of the State Normal school held yesterday in this city, President Ira Richardson was re-elected as president of the school for a term of two years. His selection will meet the approval of this district as the school has made good progress under his management.

The board reorganized by selecting W. A. Blagg as president of the board; George N. Gromer as vice-president; W. A. Rickenbrode as secretary and Burt M. Rowley, cashier of the Real Estate Bank, as treasurer.

President Richardson will go to Jefferson City Monday evening to appear before the state legislature to ask for an appropriation to cover the damage done the building by the storm last Saturday. Mr. Richardson thinks the damage will amount in the neighborhood of $20,000. Mr. Stamey of the Stamey Construction Co., of St. oseph, was here yesterday, going over the building to estimate the damage. His estimate will be given to Mr. Richardson in St. Joseph Monday evening on his way to Jefferson City.

Commencing next September, the State Normal School will resume its four quarter plan which was interrupted during the past year. The incidental fee will be $10 for each quarter.

Routine matters and the allowing of bills were taken up by the board. State Superintendent of Schools S. A. Baker of Jefferson City, attended the meeting, this being his first meeting with the board as an ex-officio member as he had assumed the state superintendency the first of the year. He expressed himself as well pleased with conditions at the school. The other out-of-town members present were Charles L. Mosley and T. D. Parr. Lee M. Phipps and George N. Gromer, members of the board, were unable to attend on account of sickness.

For Justices of Peace the Democrats have W. L. Johnson and W. A. Townsend. Mr. Johnson has faithfully filled this office and justice has been meted out equally to all who have appeared before him.

The members of the township board, Henry Heitman and Lewis Rogers, with Burt M. Rowley as rustee, are candidates for re-election and are on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

The Democrats also selected Richard Snyder as their candidate for constable, he also being on the Republican ticket.

A COMMUNITY MEETING

Patrons and Friends Gathered for One of the Most Interesting Entertainments Given There.

Believing that they are entitled to a new school building the pupils at Possum Walk school in an effort to interest the school patrons in the project planned and carried out a community meeting last night at the school house that was a decided success and will doubtless result in action by the board to provide a suitable edifice. The program and box supper given by the children and others was a most enjoyable affair and was largely attended.

Following the program by the children superintendent Bert Cooper gave added impetus to the new building idea by a chart talk on improvement of rural schools and especially better buildings. Supt. Cooper said that he was sure no one could go away without feeling that the boys and girls who have spent six hours a day for ten years in such a building deserved a better one in which to display such talent as had been shown in the progarm that was given . They are not getting a square deal, for with the country children constituting one half of the population they get one fifth the opportunity that the city child has.

The first number on the program was a Recitation of Welcome by Mildred Adkins in which she cleared the atmosphere of uneasiness and tuned the audience for a free and easy enjoyment of the evening.

The dialogues given by the children were excellent and revealed talent rarely met with in any school. Not a pupil had to be prompted on hesitated in their parts. The recitations by William Adkins, Arthur Stuart, Martha Hurst, Ruby Lesher, Eldon Spangler and Margaret Brown were choice collections and the splendid way in which they were rendered demonstrated that these young people have a future that merits their best endeavors of preparation. These recitations revealed the fact a teacher of elocution and public speaking would find in this community material she would be delighted with. Miss Ruby Lesher from the Salem district read "The Sisters Beau" in her usual charming manner to the delight of all.

Mildred Adkins sang a solo, "Sunshine and Smiles" that greatly pleased all. The duet by Martha Adkins and Cleda Brush, "The Depot" brought a round of applause.

Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Nate Lesher on the Organ and violin. They delighted all with the masterful way in which they used their instruments.

EXPECT CALL TO CONGRESS

President, It Is Believed Will Be Able to Return to U. S. Sooner Than He Expected.

Washington, March 22.—That President Wilson will be able to return to the United States sooner than he expected—possibly early in May—was the belief expressed in circles close to the White House today. And with his return it is expected that one of his first official acts will be to call the new congress into extraordinary session. The possibility that he will not wait uneil he reaches home to issue the call was being discussed today, but it was stated that the President has not yet indicated in any messages that constantly are being exchanged between Paris and the White House any intention he may have in this direction.

BUY SON'S PARDON?

SPRING A SENSATION

Wm. Rathbun, a Farmer, in Affidavit, Says His Attorney Told Him "Capital City Was Fixed."

Des Moines, March 22.—Iowa's official circles are seething today in the most sensational turmoil in years as the result of charges made before the legislative judiciary committee that $5,000 was paid George Clark, his attorney, to buy the pardon of Ernest Rathbun from Governor Harding. Impeachment of the Governor is threatened and may be the outcome of the investigation that is being made.

The sensation was sprung when the affidavit of Wm. Rathbun, an Ida county farmer was introduced at the committee's investigation of the pardon of Rathbun's son, Ernest, after conviction of criminal assault.

The affidavit was presented as evidence by H. M. Havnor, state attorney general, the first witness called. It was dated February 25, 1919, and was dictated in the presence of five other members of the Rathbun family, the affidavit stated.

Seven affidavits in support to the claims of the state in connection with the granting of the pardon were presented by Mr. Havnor. Two were signed by William Rathbun, Sr., two by Ernest Rathbun, one by William Rathbun, Jr., one by Fred Rathbun and one by A. C. Johnson, an Ida Grove attorney.

Havnor testified he went to Governor Harding December 31, 1918, and when he asked the governor about the Rathbun pardon, the chief executive asked.

"Why are you sticking your nose into this matter?"

The witness said he then told the governor he would endeavor to set aside the pardon on the grounds of fraud.

The $5,000 was paid to Clark by Rathbun, Sr., in three installments, according to the affidavit of William Rathbun, Sr.

WILSON AS REFEREE

JAP DEMAND SETTLED

Claim for Equal Rights for Jap Citizens, Which Has Been Menace, Has Been Modified.

Paris, March 22.—Premier Orlando of Italy, has an appointment to confer with President Wilson and Col. House this afternoon on Italy's claim to the Fiume and the Adriatic littoral. It is reliably reported that President Wilson will be selected as referee to settle the dispute between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs over the Dalmation question.

Paris, March 22.—All the proposed amendments to the League of Nations covenant were taken under consideration today when the League of Nations commission met under the chairmanship of President Wilson. This was the first full meeting of the commission since the session in February, the day before President Wilson sailed for America.

Two of the most perplexing questions which have been puzzling the experts were the immigration question as put forward by Japan, and the amendment to insure the integrity of the Monroe doctrine. The supreme allied war council met again today.

Japan's claims for equal rights for Japanese citizens which has been menacing the League of Nations plan has been settled in a series of private conferences, it was understoo dthis afternoon. It was reported that the matter had been so modified that it was generally unobjectionable. The word "equal rights" is said to have been cut out following the Japanese demand, so that it simply calls for justice alike for nations of all members of the league. As one American delegate pointed out, this is virtually what the Declaration of Independence says.

ALLIES EVACUATE ODESSA.

London, March 22.—Odessa has been evacuated by the Allies, according to a Russian wireless dispatch picked up here this afternoon. A British and French garrison has been occupying Odessa while north of the city a Greek force has been heavily engaged with Bolsheviki troops recently.

FLABBERGASTED.

The Republican party is bewildered. It is nonplussed. It does not know what to do.

The greatest event in human history is being developed, and it has had nothing to do with shaping that event. It does not know whether to block it or to join hands and push it through. Its leaders are divided in opinion, and the rank and file of the party are like sheep without a shepherd. There is no great outstanding leadership at this time in the Republican party.

The Democrats are almost a solid unit behind their leader and behind his policy. And there is much Republican sentiment which is willing to pocket its pride and lend a hand.

As matters appear now, should the senate reject the treaty for the League of Nations and for peace when they are assembled in extra session in June, the proposition for a League would then become a national issue and would then become a national issue and would go to the people in the campaign of 1920. Since something like 80 per cent at least, of public opinion in America is for some form of League of Nations, the Democratic party, which stands sponsor for it, would undoubtedly continue in power in 1920.

On the other hand, should the Republicans in the senate accept the peace treaty with the League of Nations involved, the fight would be over and the two parties would go before the country in 1920 on old issues or on the records established between onw and then in the operation of the League.

As for a third party of uncompromising anti-leaguers, concerning which there are some rumors in the air, it would not stand a ghost of a show because there is only a very small percentage of the population of this country which is unqualifiedly opposed to the League.

The Democratic party needs to be warned in time lest there should be any rift in its ranks. It has the chance of its life today with a great world-stirring issue. It needs to sit tight in the boat, to hang closely together, to sink differences, to fritter away none of its strength in following a will-o'the-wisp.

Furthermore, it is pushing through a great program, moral and righteous in character. Never was such a stirring and inspiring purpose before any political party. It would be a crime to falter in the slightest degree in these days of anxious and earnest effort. The shoulder of every man who loves the truth and the right should be put to the wheel until this great issue is settled and finally settled.—Kansas City Post.

For County Superintendent of Schools.

Pickering has one boy with the army of occupation in Germany—Wallace McKee. His brother, Sergeant Leland McKee, who has been in France, arrived last week at Camp Eustis, Va., and is supposed will soon reach home.

Floyd Rickard of Hopkins recently made a flying trip to France on the Mt. Vernon, which is one of Uncle Sam's largest transports. On the return trip 6000 of the men of the 27th Division were brought over. Floyd is now at Hoboken, New Jersey, and expects another trip across in the very near future.

J. M. Ephland of Hopkins, who recently gave a public sale at his residence some six miles northeast of Hopkins, has located near Harrionville where he will farm the coming season.

U. I. Wilson of Barnard, received a letter and paper from France sent by his son, Paul, who is in service with the Motor Supply Train No. 411, stating that his company had won in the race to Hoboken by a good margin. Just what this race is Mr. Wilson does not know, but judging from the prominence given it in the paper sent home, it must be a thing of some importance. Paul says that his company has been recommended for home and he expects to be on his way shortly.

Frank Drydale of Bernard, who has been in service across the pond, is now in New York, according to a letter received by his parents early this week. He arrived there March 6 and will probably be discharged and sent home before long.

One day last week J. W. New of Hopkins stepped into one of the local banks and drew out something like $350, all in bills. He also had a check for $300 given him by Cabe Miller. He wrapped the bills and check together and placed them in his pocket. He walked across the street when he decided to see how the bills were riding and, lo and behold, the money and checks were gone, having slipped through a hole in his pocket. Diligent search was at once made for the missing roll, and although Mr. New had walked but a few feet, "hide or hair" of the money could not be found. Mr. Miller wrote another check for the one that was lost and the money will no doubt turn up later unless it went down the 102 river in the recent flood. John says he now feels that a bank is a safer place to put money than in your pocket, especially if there is a hole in the pocket.

While assisting Sunday in saving the Park river bridge that was threatened with being washed away by reason of the high waters, Roy Clark of Hopkins fell into the river and might have been drowned but for the prompt assistance of Ben Hopple who was near the bank and succeeded in helping him out before he went under. Roy had on rubber boots and as the current was swift, he would have experienced difficulty in getting out but for the assistance of Ben.

A wind and rain storm struck Hopkins a little after the noon hour last Saurday, but aside from blowing down a few trees and tangling up telephone and electric light wires, no serious damage was done. The rain came down in torrents and for a few minutes it was feared that a cyclone was at hand, but they luckily escaped the worst of the wind storm. On the old Uncle Johnny McMaster farm, now occupied by Walter Jackson, they did not escape so luckily. The big hay and cattle barn is a total wreck, as is a new hog house, the wind picking them up and shaking them to pieces, scattering the lumber over the place. The roof was also taken from the ice house as well as the roof from the big horse barn. The porch on the southeast corner of the home was damaged and it is estimated the loss is between two and three thousand dollars. Two hogs were killed and hay blown away, as well as corn damaged that was in a crib that was blown down. Mr. Jackson has some insurance, but not nearly enough to cover the loss.

Perry Colwell has sold his 40-acre farm which is located 3 1-2 miles southwest of Skidmore to W. E. Hammond for $165 per acre. Mr. Colwell and family will continue to occupy the house on the farm he sold while he tends some of the N. S. Shull farm this season.

Lester Carpenter, who bought the Tootle land west of town this spring also invested in some town property in which to live until he can build some new improvements on the farm. J. W. Weddle, Jr., is now without a home, having sold his property to Mr. Carpenter last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Weddle have rented the G. R. Davis property, and will move there the last of the week.

Henry Rowlette has sold the residence property in Northwest Skidmore that he got in his trade with J. W. Miller a few days ago, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barrett. The Barretts will make this property their home after it is vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

The property at the east end of Elm street in Skidmore changed hands the latter part of last week, when John Lowrance, who purchased the property from Charley Money last fall, sold it to J. U. Marshall who came to Skidmore a couple of weeks ago from Glenwood, Iowa. The property sold for $2,100.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McGarry and children of Clyde left for St. Joseph Monday, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. McGarry were reared in Clyde and vicinity and have many friends who will regret to see them leave.

Ben Jones' 2 year old colt "Bob Allen," took first money at Hot Springs, Ark., last week. This colt was ridden by Ernest Wheatley, the Parnell jockey. The purse was $600. This is where Wheatley was born and his mother still lives there.

Considering the condition of the weather, the Harmony Shorthorn sale at Ravenwood was well attended Saturday aftenoon. The highest price paid for an animal was $575, we understand. Some of the best animals to be found anywhere were offered in this sale. The high price cow was listed by A. O. Stanley of Sheridan and purchased by T. F. Payne of this place. Mr. Stanley also listed top bull offerings which was bought by Roy Wells of Ravenwood. The Circle is planning to have another sale next year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. James, who have been in Miami, Okla., for the past two years, returned to Burlington Junction Saturday morning and will again make their home in that town. They will reside in the Stitt property on Davis street. Mr. James worked on a number of large contracts in Miami, which for some time was one of the booming cities of Oklahoma.

C. B. Zarn of Burlington Junction, who recently made a business trip to Chicago, is not enthused over the possibility of the new industrial board accomplishing much in the matter of reducing prices. He believes prices will continue to gradually come down, but not because of price agreements such as is contemplated by the industrial board at Washington. Mr. Zarn is of the opinion that in order to get the factories and manufacturing plants to moving it will be necessary for dealers throughout the country to place sufficient advance orders at prevailing prices so that the factories of necessity will have to speed up.

John Baker of Clearmont sold his farm west of the river last week, then went down and bought the old Hagey farm southwest of Burlington Junctiono but does not get possession until the first of next March, so he and C. S. Turpen went together and rented the old Hiles farm southwest of the Junction and will both move onto it for the next year.

J. E. Hornbuckle of Clearmont brougt a French 75 shell case to our office the last of the week that Elbert Pence had sent him, that is quite a curiosity. The case has a lot of lettering cut into it that was done by a German prisoner that Elbert had charge of and the work was fine.

Rollie Bancroft, who has been living at Dwyer, Montana, for about 3 years, arrived in Clearmont last Monday with his effects and will again make his home there. He will live on W. P. Lemon's south place.

The Odd Fellows lodge at Clearmont is arranging to celebrate the One Hundredth Anniversary of the birth of Odd Fellowship in this country on the 24th of April. All members of the lodge are urged to be in attendance at the regular meeting next Tuesday evening to assist in completing arrangements for the occasion.

Last Friday evening the reorganized Burlington Junction Concert Band gave the first of a series of concerts in the Grand opera house here. In spite of the rainy weather, a good sized audience greeted the band, and those who attended are loud in their praise for the manner in which the program was handled. Some even went so far as to say the entertainment surpassed anything of its nature that has been given in this city for a long time, and that the improvement shown by the individual members of the band since last heard was very pronounced. The membership of the Burlington Concert Band (twenty pieces) is composed of the following: Conductor Merrion Minter; solo cornets, Carl Furgeson and Orlo Lincoln; first cornet, Wayne Nicholas; second cornet, Frank Rhodes; solo clarinets, Henry Brough and Paul Greenelsh; first clarinet, Raymond Harrington; second clarinet, Joab Nicholas; E-flat, Robert Barber; first alto, Stanley Ferguson; second alto, Evert Crites; baritone, Ross Wallace; bass, Bert Oehler and Frank Larrabee; first trombone, E. A. Nelson; second trombone, Sherman Cordell; third trombone, F. C. Greenelsh; drums, John Beavens and William Walker.

Hannibal Wright has been discharged from service in the navy and arrived home in Ravenwood Thursday on No. 54. On the way from New York he stopped at St. Louis and visited relatives a couple of days and also laid over in St. Joseph a day or two for the same purpose.

Dr. Hunterson of Ravenwood, is in receipt of a letter from the Navy department giving the information that his binoculars, loaned for use during the war, are being returned to him. A liberal expression of thanks is contained in the letter.

Hoyt Craig arrived in Ravenwood, Tuesday night on a 30 days' furlough from duty as seaman. He says his ship, the Buford, has sailed for France and that it will probably take 30 days to make the trip. He hopes to be discharged soon, but thinks he will have to report at Newport News, Va., before receiving his papers. We are all glad to see him.

Though there was an unusually heavy rain and storm Saturday, which had followed a threatening period on the previous day, the sale conducted in Ravenwood by the Harmony Shorthorn Circle was a decided success and there is promise of annual sales that will put this community on the map for producing fancy cattle stock. The record price of the sale was paid by Tom Payne of Parnell, for Sunrise, No. 41 in the catalouge, it being $575. Other sales were R. F. Wells purchase of Royal Orange for $325 and No. 34, Buttercup 2nd, to J. D. Gates for $310. Quite a number of young animals were placed in the sale, which cut down the average price, and this with the inclement weather might have had some effect on a less optimistic crowd of fellows than the Harmony crowd. Col. Gross was the auctioneer and there were buyers from all parts of Missouri and parts of Iowa.

Fifty years ago March 2nd, Uncle Charlie Hocker began to live in the vicinity of Guilford. Uncle Charlie has been a useful and honorable citizen all these years.

Hobart Bledsoe of Guilford, who saw service over seas has arrived home after an absence of 1½ years. He went into the service in September, 1917, and in June 1918, sailed over seas and saw duty at the front until the armistice was signed.

For County Superintendent of Schools.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of J. W. Pierce for County Superintendent of Schools of Nodaway County, subject to the action of the voters at the election to be held Tuesday, April 1.

Regional Director at Priladelphia Protests the New Styles for the Fair Sex.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—Tha tight skirts delay the trains by adding seventeen seconds to the averag stop is the allegation contained in a complaint filed by the South Jersesy Commtuers' Association with Charles Markham, Regional Railroad Director, whose main offices are in this city.

The protest explains that this extra time concession is necessary to the female sex because the steps to the old Pullman cars used on the Trenton Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad are of a height from the station platform that makes imperative a tortoise like movement on the part of the hobbled woman passengers entering and leaving the trains.

According to hearsay of the Jersey commuters the brakesman are taking considerable interest in their work nowadays because of the fact that women must literally be lifted to the platform in alighting.

HAL BAKER WRITES FROM PRUM

Directs Work of Keeping up Wire Service for Pershing's Army.

In a letter to his father, Cana Baker, of Maryville, Hal Baker, with the American Army of Occupation, writes as follows:

Prum, Germany, Feb. 16—The weather here is cold and plenty of snow. I am in Prum, Germany, and nothing but valleys and mountains and snow. I will try and get you straightened out as to my roaming around. I left San Antonio on the 5th of August, to New York and boarded the ship, Harva on the 16th. 30,000 men were on the boats in our convoy, the latter consisting of two battle vruisers, two torpedo boats destroyers, sixteen submarine boat destroyers and eight flying machine, so we were well protected. We wore our life preservers all the time ready for anything that might happen. We were seven days out when the gunners sighted a submarine coming in the moonlight. They cracked down on him four times, with two direct hits, and we finished that German. When two days out from Liverpool the English mosquito fleet submarine fleet met us and took us in. We spent six days in Liverpool and two in South Hampton, going from there to La Vere, Fraance, across the English Channel, going from there to Remiremont. From there to Sachment building telephone lines to the front. I left the company here and was sent to Langress, France, to an O. T. C. The company came on to Luxemburg, Germany, while I was at school. I took a six week's courses and passed and would have been made an officer if we had continued, but was sent back in the S. O. S., transferred and went to Chitney, then to court Chevernay, then to St. Agnon Noyer, then to Barleyduke, then to Metz, then to Verdun, then to Luxemburg, hen to Coblenz, then to Moselweiss, then to Prum where I rejoined the company. I was sent here with five men to take charge of the telephone lines—we operate and maintain them. I have two Ford cars and a motor cycle to ride over the lines from Prum to Staddkyle, Schumberg, Balesped, Whitteldorf, Bualif and Kylberg, about 140 kilometers. I usually make the trip every other day. I am billeted with an old lady and man 72 years old and have a good feather bed and the best of treatment. They cannot do enough for us soldiers. I was at the front when the armistice was signed and we worked night and day to keep up the lines into the trenches. To tell you of the war itself is impossible. When I see you I can perhaps, give you some idea of its greatness and horror. France is a beautiful country and so is Germany with wonderful sight to be seen in both. I visited the palace of Louis XIII of France and several other chauteaus and palaces. Was in Chauteau Thierry where one of the hardest battles was fought and last Saturday I was riding the lines of General Pershing to the Spa, Belgium, and had the pleasure of eating dinner in Hindenburg's home which is now occupied by Americans. Was also in the ex-kaiser's home at the Spa. I am asking for a fourteen day furlough to go to Italy, but don't know whether I will get it or not. I also heard today we would return to the U. S. in March, but nothing sure about it. I have not been paid for three months on account of being pushed around over the country. I have worked hard in the army and have gotten up as high as an enlisted man can go. I had six months of the hardest training ever given a soldier and I think I know the game from start to finish. I received at Langress a certificate stating I had received grades at school entitling me to an officer's commission which I would have received had the war continued, but I am glad it ended aand I trust it is for good. Russia don't look good yet and troops are likely to be sent there. I saw President Wilson when he was here and he made us a wonderful little talk. I had visitors tonight in my room as I ate supper, a little 5 year and 8 year old German boy and girl. I had some candy and gave them a few pieces and they sang, "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" for me. It was comical to hear the little tads sing what they had been taugh' to hate so thoroughly.

TIME WOMEN GO TO JAIL

Pennsylvania Chairman of National Woman's Party Was There and Ought to Know.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—Miss Mary Ingram, Pennsylvania State Chairman of the National Women's Party, has just been released from serving four days in a Washington jail for burning the President's message, and she is willing to talk. Here's her tip:

"Now is the time for all good women to go to jail, and they should go as often as possible."

These words were taken from Miss Ingram's talk to reporters when she returned home after a compulsory stay of a week-end at the capital. Despite the fact that the Keystone suffrage leader maintained a hunger strike during her jail period she denied any ill effects, and was quite willing to discuss the proposed women's suffrage amendment in detail.

"It is a shame," said Miss Ingram vehemently, "that when Germany's new democratic government has not only enfranchised its women, but has already elected thirty-four women to the new parliament, that the United States even refuses to start the process of enfranchising us.

"One hundred and forty women have been in jail or in workhouses for periods from three to sixty days during the last year because they have felt so earnestly that the honor of our nation must be cleared and that it only can be done by enfranchising women."

Mrs. Cooper Gooden will return tomorrow night from Excelsior Springs where she has been for the past month at the mineral springs.

A Queer Old Bird is The Pelican

Its bill holds more than its bellican.

But at that, its heart is bigger than its bill. It is the only bird which shares its food with other and weaker fowl.

So the queer old pelican looms up handsome in Goodrich's eyes—eyes which see beauty that is more than skin deep.

Goodrich, it is true, makes Silvertown Cords the handsomest tires—the very Beau Brummel tires of smart cars.

Yet if clumsiness and ugliness would add one mile to their service, Goodrich would make them clumsy and ugly as the queer old pelican.

"Quality First," rules in the manufacture of Silvertowns; and they render quality service first and last.

campaign, as the Presbyterians call their drive, which calls for forty million dollars needed for the work.

The Maryville quota needed is $7,500.00 and the aim and object has been fully explained from the pulpit and in circulars sent to each member. Dean G. H. Colbert is chairman of the local drive and he will be assisted by twenty group leaders. The plans for the work are fully organized and the solicitation of the members will begin at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Among the objects for which the forty millions dollars will be raised are the following:

Half a million for use among returning soldiers and sailors, to whom assistance is also to be given in finding jobs and in getting a new start in life.

Half a million dollars for reconstruction work in building Protestant churches in Europe devastated by the war.

Four million dollars, for overseas work, where the last year Presbyterians conducted 175 hospitals and dispensaries in which 700,000 patients were treated and where educational institutions and religious services were maintained which were attended by many millions of natives.

Eighty thousand dollars will be used for temperance and prohibition work, especially in foreign lands in which American brewers and distillers are to begin operations as soon as their plants are closed down in this country.

Nearly a million dollars will be appropriated for disabled preachers, and another million will be used to increase preacher's salaries.

About three millions are needed for special work in American cities and among immigrant populations, lumberjacks, Indians, Mexicans and other depressed peoples, and for relief work in the sparsely settled sections of the country.

Presbyterian women are to raise nearly two million dollars for educational and social work in this country.

Half a million is to be spent for general religious education and theological training, half a million for Sunday School work and religious literature, and about one hundred thousand for special men's work and general evangelism.

Twenty-five million dollars will be spent by the local Presbyterian churches for their general community work.

Sunday, March 23, is "Victory Day." when the entire church is expected to "go over the top," coming up to its full quota.

Arrangements have been made whereby the report from each Church will be sent to the local chairman, who in turn will telegraph to New York the total amount raised during the day in his district or Presbytery, and on Monday, March 24, it is expected that practicaly a complete report of the success of the campaign will be flashed across the country.

AN IOWA TOWN'S MEMORIAL

How Sac City Raised $200,00 With Which to Erect a Building in Honor of War Heroes.

How Sac City, Iowa, secured $200,000 for a memorial building is told in Community Center Circular No. 2 issued by the department of the interior, bureau of education.

The action of Sac City, Iowa, illustrates not only characteristic American speed and enthusiasm but an element in the plan which needs emphasis. At the annual banquet of the Commercial club it was suggested that the club buy as its memorial community building a certain private house which was for sale and could be bought at low price because one of the two owners promised to give his share if it were used for public purposes. The mayor arose and said that the suggestion so fully met a long-felt need that he desired to subscribe for five $100 Liberty Bonds of the fifth issue and present them to the club for this purpose, and that he would make it 10 if needed. Three other citizens arose and said in turn, "I'll match the mayor." Here was $2,000 and $4,000 if needed, subscribed spontaneously. It was on unexpected thrill to the audience. The proposed plan aroused so much enthusiasm in Sac City that it was decided to raise $200,000, half of it for a new building and the other half as an endowment for operating expenses. Ten days later an architect was on his way to the town to draw plans for the building. It is to be noted that the $100,000 endowment will remain in Liberty Bonds during the life of the bonds. So far as possible all bonds contributed for community buildings ought not to be converted into money but used as money. Current money will of course be needed by builders, but an effort should be made to induce trust companies and estates to take over the bonds because of the public purpose for which they are used. It is highly important to guard against the danger of depressing the price of bonds by throwing them on the market. Builders who are paid for the work in bonds ought to agree to retain them if possible for a certain period, one or two years after their issue.

HAS FOUND ETERNAL YOUTH

Hubert Leigey, 90, Says He Expects to Live to Be 120—Has Never Had a Day's Sickness.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 22.—Hubert Leigey, ninety, a hermit in the Clearfield mountains in Western Pennsylvania, is believed by his friends to have found the fountain of youth.

In the seasons not marked by snow or frost the young aged man roams the mountain trails in his bare feet. He has never shaved and his beard extends almost to his knees. He knows the secret of vigorous life. Nature has few mysteries which he does not possess. He heals by the laying on of hands and extracts medicinal secrets from the barks of hemlock, pine and oak and from the wild flowers, plants and weeds.

Leigey plants only enough grain and vegetables for himself. He will not hoard. He gets his meat from wild game and he is said to be a crack shot with a muzzle-loading rifle. He says he can hit the eye of a humming bird at 100 yards. From the hides of deer anad bear he makes what clothing he needs. Old residents say he has never had a day of sickness.

The hermit says his secret of youth lies in clean thoughts and scrupulous adherence to the laws of nature. "Modified civilization has brought disease to human kind," he declares. "I expect to live to be on hundred and twenty by obeying Mother Nature."

A PRIVATE'S PRAYER TO WILSON.

Paris.—(By Mail).—An American soldier just back from the Army of Occupation in Germany, dropped in at the K. of C. headquarters here and wrote the following "Private's Prayer," which he requested be sent to President Wilson:

"Our father who art in Washington honored be thy name; give us this day our long delayed pay, and forgive us our A. W. O. L.'s as we forgive the bugler, the mess sergeant and all others who wear bars.

"And lead us not into the Army of Occupation, but deliver us from fatigue, for all these are the M. P., the field clerks, and the Q. M.'s; forever and ever. Ah, oui."

AGRICULTURAL PAYS

Two Instances That Show That What Such Training Can Do.

Columbia, March 20.—These two stories are being told by the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri to show that training in agriculture does pay. These are merely instances of what such training can do.

Two brothers of Lees Summit who attended the Short Course a few years ago, went home and began breeding pure bred Poland-China hogs. At their first annual sale the average price which they received was the fourth highest in Poland-China sales in the whole United States. In 1915-16 they received the highest average price brought by Poland-Chinas in Missouri.

Fifteen years ago a Missouri boy went home from the Short Course and rented three acres of neglected orchard from his father. He pruned and sprayed the trees according to the methods he had learned.

A few years later he bought 40 acres of land and planted 15 acres in orchard His trees have borne five crops which have given him a net profit of $467 an acre after deducting fair wages for himself, his team, and other operating expenses. He now owns a 420 acre farm valued at nearly $60,000.

WHY THEY WED FRENCH GIRLS

M'selle's Genius for Taking Pains With Her Clothing Wins Admiration of the Yanks.

Boston, March 22.—How to apply classic art as shown by ancient sculpture, painting and tapestries, to the modern art of trimming women's hats is revealed by Miss Lotta A. Clarke, head of the department of history of the Boston Normal School.

"It is line and texture and color that makes a thing bueatiful," Miss Clarke says. "A milliner or a dressmaker displays her or her genius when they take the materials at hand and combine all those elements. If our milliners and modistes would go to the Art Meseum they would see things there that have been models of beauty for mankind for generations. And it is the test of beauty when a thing never goes out of style, for, you see, it lasts forever, it is always a joy to look upon.

"Milliners may not find many hats in the Art Museum, but they find models of headdress there. They will note, too, exhibitions of cleverness in making materials fit the beautiful lines of the head, the shoulders and the body of a woman.

"Why do we look to France for style today? Is it not because France looked to Greece for her models of beauty? France and Greece have in common that love of beautiful in line, in color and in texture. The French too, have that infinite capacity of taking pains in their dress. That is genius in costume.

"We wonder why 200,000 of our American boys are staying in France to marry French girls. I fancy that the French womans genius for taking infinite pains in clothing herself is responsible. The French girl devotes her whole attention to her appearance and manners. Think back of the French girl and look at the Greek head of Aphrodite. She has the puffs and the head-band that aare so popular today. Yet there is never a stray hair to be seen. The Greeks, too, took infinite pains to be beautiful. In the Greek and French creations there is never the awkwardness of line that we so often see in American products."

Mr. Lowry and his assistants spent a busy afternoon in getting acquainted with the visitors and in showing them goods.

In these days of the high cost of living there are men still bold enough to lead a "double life."

Which reminds us that most of us lead a double life—the one we spend at home and the other one we use when down town.
